The most important person in this business is the new person – the one who joined your business today...and the person that's going to join your business tomorrow.

They need to experience success to see the value in this business. And the easiest way for them to do so is by selling our products and making some extra income.

But they also need to be shown how. Because success in this business doesn't just happen – it takes hard work, perseverance and understanding of our products.

And new people are willing to put in the work. But if they don't know the way to build their businesses, they're not going to succeed. That's why teaching and training them is so important.

It's your special role – teaching your downline how to build balanced, successful businesses.

And you don't have to do it alone, because we're here for you. We have training resources to help you all around the world. There's Quixtar University in North America, Amway China Training Institute in China, Amway Business Seminar in Japan...just to name a few.

So take advantage of the opportunity to learn the best way to build this business. And then pass it on.

The person who joined your business today will thank you.

Making a difference around the world

Whether it's overseas or at home, building a profitable business rests on the same principles. You have to first define your reason for wanting a business, be willing to work hard, and be "teachable."

New Amway Business Owners can't believe that the Amway compensation plan could be so simple, but not obvious. It's really about changing personally and learning how to lead and work with many different kinds of people.

You have to be a student of your upline. Do what works, not what you think works.

We observed that people are destined to fail when they get discouraged. Financial challenges, sickness, or other problems are not reasons to quit, but reasons to continue.

A commitment to build

When we first started in the business, we were miserably ineffective. We never thought of ourselves as business people.

We got into the business like many others. I am an aeronautical engineer, had gone to work for an aerospace manufacturer in California, and Nancy was employed as a speech therapist. Nancy quit in order to remain home with new-born child Heather, but I grinded it out in my Los Angeles office. I was not happy and Nancy couldn't imagine going back to her old job.

We saw that the people we were working for were in a rut, and we couldn't imagine that future.

We didn't want to continue paying the price for a life we didn't want.

It was obvious to Nancy when she was only 22 that, if we fast-forwarded the tape of our lives, we wouldn't be heading in the direction we wanted to be.

We were ready for a change. So when Nancy got a call from a fellow teacher to show them the Plan, she replied, "Can you come over tonight?"

But we weren't totally committed for about two years, when I quit my job to focus on the business. People assume we got lucky, or we started early. But there was no road map. It took us a long time to build it.

When I left my job, Nancy was pregnant with her second child. We were super broke. We didn't have insurance, so we were putting aside cash to pay for Nancy's impending hospital stay.

Baby Eric was born with spina bifida. In his first nine months, he had 11 surgeries and suffered three separate bouts of meningitis. Strangely enough, Eric's challenges clarified a number of issues we faced.

First, we concluded that failure was not an option. And we made a firm commitment to build our business to help get out of debt. It wasn't a matter of could we. It was a matter of would we. Less than nine years after seeing the Plan, we became Crowns in the U.S.

As Amway expanded into country after country, we led a cadre of like-minded leaders, who introduced the Amway opportunity on nearly every continent.

In 1998 we were privileged to come to India and begin sharing what we've learned in more than 30 years of building. We are as excited and expectant about the future of the India Amway business than ever before. We've only just begun.

Offering hope and a dream

Not only it is rewarding for us to help individuals the world over achieve their goals and dreams through the business, we also receive great joy from helping segments of society who are often overlooked. We began the Fernando Foundation to help those less fortunate reach their potential and achieve their dreams. The foundation funds Power Soccer, a serious international sport for handicapped athletes, has provided wheelchairs to give mobility for those with none, through Free Wheelchair Mission. It has built a school in Vasai, India, Ambassador High School, which educates more than thousand students each year and is building a hostel in Vasai which will house street children under the Karuna Welfare Society's supervision. We both and our organization has been recognized as the largest corporate network of child sponsors to World Vision, an international children's charity. According to World Vision, distributors from the group have donated more than $20 million over the past two decades, aiding more than 50,000 children.

Despite all we have accomplished, we don't assume that we are solely responsible for our achievements. It's only because God has seen fit to use us this way. And because of that, we've had the opportunity to make a difference.

Authorised Representatives of JYOTI ENTERPRISES

I belong to an average God fearing family of Dehradun, where stress was on good education and simple living. Though I was less inclined towards education and more toward sports, I remained average in both. My heart inclined to sports, prevented me to get good grades and lack of resources prevented me from becoming a topnotch sportsman.

After completing my post graduation in Economics, I started my career with small pharmaceutical company as a medical representative and gradually rose to higher designations with several leading pharmaceutical companies.

During that period, I got married to Jyoti, who belonged to Jhansi. Thus we started a rollercoaster story of a Nawab of Lucknow and Jhansi ki Rani. Jyoti worked as a teacher in Army school. Despite two salaries coming home, we were finding it difficult to make ends meet.

After birth of our one and only daughter Sahaj, we took a major decision to leave our jobs and get into traditional business, thinking that business people earn lot of money and enjoy good lifestyle. This misadventure of conventional business led us to heavy debts. During this period when we were going through a very bad phase in our life, we got a chance to see Amway business plan through a remote acquaintance. It is said that with every problem comes an equal or a better solution and you just have to identify it.

Thank God! We identified Amway opportunity as a better solution for our financial problems. Not only that, we identified the true potential of the Amway business. We could visualise that this business can not only help us become financially stable, but through this we can help many others to realise their dreams. One of the inbuilt factors of this business, which acted as a catalyst for us was the "DUAL CHALLENGE" of making the other people successful in order to achieve success.

After putting in roughly nine years, which has enormously enriched our lives, we think this business is a complete package for life. Initially, targeting just Rs.10,000 per month, we thought that this business has the potential to give you not only handsome income, but more than that it can bring balance in one's life. The rewards include Good Health because of world class Nutrilite range of dietary supplements; Positive Mental Attitude because of association with top class and unmatched leaders who are always ready to teach how to climb ladders of success and International travel to some of the best places in the world. Some added benefits are big social circle, personality development and public speaking.

We thank the person from the core of our heart for showing us this business. If an ordinary couple like us can build this business then anybody on this planet can be successful in Amway business.

Come, have the time of your life and DISCOVER YOURSELF!

I am a homemaker and my husband was working as a Deputy Conservator of Forests prior to joining Amway business. I started this business with the cooperation of my sons, Bhanuprakash, who works in Merchant Navy, P. L. Saikrishna, a student and daughters Sumalatha and Sucharita, both working as Engineers.

Right from beginning I am a big dreamer, though I was born in a middle class family. I used to dream of traveling abroad in flights, staying in five star hotels, living in posh localities, big houses, doing a lot of charity, helping people etc. My parents and my elder sister used to warn me against these dreams. When you dream, it is only a dream, but the moment one starts working towards that dream, it starts becoming reality. With the same reality I started working hard to realize my dreams and Amway business added great value to my dreams.

Through this business I have traveled abroad. Initially my husband was not positive about this business, but he always liked the products. After retiring from the service, he started helping me.

- Iron makes haemoglobin and haemoglobin carries oxygen to each and every part of our body. Iron fortifies our body to fight infection and helps produce energy.
- Vitamin C is an antioxidant that acts primarily in cellular fluids like blood plasma, lung fluid and eye fluid.
- A higher bioavailability of dietary iron can be achieved by increasing the content of food components which enhance iron absorption, specifically ascorbic acid.
- The key role of ascorbic acid for the absorption of dietary nonheme iron is on account of (1) prevention of the formation of insoluble and unabsorbable iron compounds and (2) reduction of ferric to ferrous iron, which is a key requirement for the uptake of iron into the mucosal cells.

Now, you can also buy these two powerful supplements as a single combination pack. For details see Spring Catalogue 2008 page.
